News from the factory

In pursuing the objective of continuous product improvement, Fortuna Federn has partnered with the Jozef Stephan Institute and Bay Zoltan Non profit Ltd. for Applied Research. The goal of this project was to improve the life of tooling on Fortuna Federn machines. Through the use of scanning electron microscopes studying fatigue in existing materials, improvements have been made to metal composition and heat treatment methods (using vacuum heat treatment vs. traditional heat treatment).

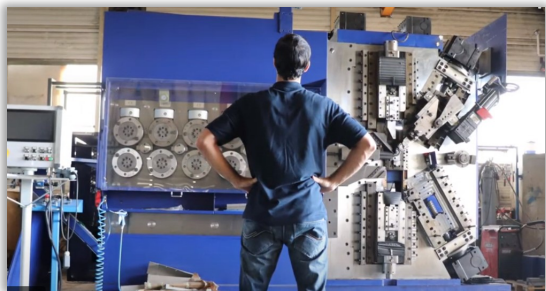

Technological Improvement to Tooling

The results of this partnership has produced tooling that will provide longer tool life in the spring manufacturing process. Click on the link to learn more.
